FROM WASHINGTON

[illegible] Route—Postmasters and Pensions

WASHINGTON March 1[illegible]—From what can be learned from the officials of the post office department it would seem that the mail route from Ashland Or., to Linkville will within a few days either be discontinued or service thereon be decreased and that a new route will be established from Linkville down the Klamath river to a point in California where the river is intersected by a stage line or railroad The officials are now considering whether to make terms with the present contractor of the Ashland route for carrying the mail on the new route or whether to ask for bids for the latter and let contracts to the lowest bidder It is said that [illegible] the [illegible] roughness of the road the [illegible] for the Ashland route is losing about [illegible] a year Several remonstrances have been received against the proposed change and Col Whipple commanding officer at Fort Klamath [illegible] against it until at least the O & C railroad is extended south to the Klamath river and that it all matters a while the people are mostly interested in commerce from Portland and not from San Francisco and if the change is ordered their mail will arrive one or two days later than at present The department has telegraphed to a postal inspector to examine the case

WHAT THE PRESIDENT SAYS

[illegible] leaves to-morrow for Baltimore Boston and Canada, and thence for Oregon In calling to pay his parting respects to President Cleveland he took occasion to speak of the disappointment of the people of the Northwest over the failure of the river and harbor bill to become a law The president replied in substance that in his opinion there is as much money on hand as can profitably be expended during the coming summer that congress has grown extravagant in the matter of appropriations for the improvement of rivers and harbors and that for these and other reasons he felt it to be his duty not to sign the bill

THE VANCOUVER ENTRIES

The assistant commissioner of the general land office has written a reply in answer to Senator Dolph's personal application for copies of the reports of Special Agent Shields upon certain Vancouver land entries Mr Stockslager says "I have to say that special agents reports are privileged papers and copies of the same are not furnished nor are they allowed to be examined" He states that when the case comes up for trial the accused will be confronted with government witnesses and then all the facts and more than are contained in the agent's report, will become known

THE ANNEXATION OF IDAHO

WASHINGTON March 13 —Delegate Voorhees of Washington territory was greatly disappointed because the president pocketed the bill to annex the Panhandle of Idaho to Washington but he hoped to induce the president to sign it after congress adjourned In this he has been mistaken though he had the influence of his father senator from Indiana, to aid him Senator Dolph in talking about the proposed annexation said that congress was convinced that a large majority of the people of Northern Idaho wanted the change made, and why the president [illegible] the bill he could not really understand. It is surmised however that the president was influenced by a letter or telegram from the governor of Idaho protesting against any alteration of the present boundary lines Voorhees has not given up the fight, and will renew it at the next session of congress when it is hoped the president will be able to know matters differently The failure of the Washington territory annexation scheme has also seriously interfered with the proposition which Senator Stewart has proposed looking to the annexation of a goodly portion of Southern Idaho to Nevada, and in which he would have had the support of Senator Jones and Representative Woodburn The senator says that there is an evident disposition to prevent their admission as states He is not one of those who believe that large Western states will be divided Opposition to any great increase in the membership of the senate and fear of one of the two great parties lest its opponents will gain undue advantage in the electoral college he thinks will prevent any small territory from being admitted into the Union. With the panhandle taken from Idaho he urges that there will not be enough of the territory left to form a state Hence the necessity for the annexation of the southern part to Nevada and this latter plan will be pressed simultaneously with that to annex the northern part to Washington territory

NO HOPE FOR RIVER AND HARBOR BILL

WASHINGTON, March 13 —As days go by and the ten days limit is about expiring, all expectation that the president will yet sign the river and harbor bill vanishes Senator Mitchell blames Gen Parke of engineer corps as much as any one for its failure. He thinks that if Parke had not withheld the money appropriated last year affording the opponents of the bill a chance to say that there was $16,000,000 still unexpended the president would have signed it without much delay, and the destruction now inevitable because of lack of appropriations would be avoided The failure of this year's bill can only serve to augment the appropriations which must be made next year to repair damages resulting from the action of the elements where work will be suspended and improvements cannot be properly protected

BEN HOLLADAY

WASHINGTON March 13 —Ben Holladay has sold his farm near this city With his own poor health and the fact that his wife is an invalid his affairs are in a very complicated condition at the present time The long sickness and death of his son Ben Holladay Jr was a sad blow The young man was engaged in the claim business which necessarily failed as soon as he was taken ill the result being that his affairs were left in a very tangled condition In addition to his own business the father has tried to do what he could to straighten out the affairs of his son the difficulty of the task being better imagined than described

AFTER OFFICES

WASHINGTON March 13 —The repeal of the tenure of office act caused a grand scramble for the remaining collectorships and postmasterships throughout the country which remain over from past administrations Among the offices for which the crowd is hungering after is the Portland Oregon collectorship Senator Dolph said to-day he had no idea who would be the successful candidate He only knew that a hard fight was being waged over it and that all the democratic leaders of Oregon were bending their energies to secure the place

RESERVE CITIES

WASHINGTON March 13 —The comptroller of the currency has received a number of inquiries as to whether banks in cities which become central reserve cities under the late act were to be allowed to keep a part of their reserve in any other reserve city, central or otherwise He would have made an official ruling on the question but there seems to be little doubt that he will construe the words in the act "like New York" as requiring banks in new central reserve cities to keep their entire reserve in those cities

MEETING OF RAILROAD MEN

EDITOR NEW YORK "TIMES."

He Expresses his Views on the Presidential Situation

LOS ANGELES March 12 —George Jones, proprietor of the New York Times, arrived yesterday with his daughter Mrs Ireland who is travelling for her health In an interview regarding politics Mr Jones said "The Times opposed Blaine in 1884 and will oppose him again if he is nominated by the republicans in 1888 He is a man whose whole policy is all for Blaine and the rest may get what they can He made innumerable mistakes during the last campaign and would have stood a much better show of election had he remained in his modest Maine home Accepting an invitation to dinner given by Jay Gould and Russel Sage was enough to condemn him and the famous 'Rum Romanism and Rebellion' alliteration routed him horse foot and dragoons As to whom the republicans will nominate next time I cannot tell. Blaine is working for it with his whole soul and may get the nomination but he will never be elected If I were allowed to place a man in nomination for the presidency I should name Judge Walter Q Gresham of Indiana Cleveland will be nominated by the democrats for re-election because they cannot do otherwise He is the [illegible] [illegible] his party and his administration has been [illegible] [illegible] the approbation [illegible] world Hill has lost prestige in New York by devoting more of his time to securing the democratic nomination for president than to [illegible] of state but he will not reach it as Cleveland will be nominated" In reply to a question [illegible]

"[illegible] voted for Cleveland and I will do so again I am a strong republican too"

Referring to matters on the Pacific coast he [illegible] astonished at the wonderful growth [illegible] and [illegible] will invest in property here He will visit Santa Barbara and San Diego and will go to San Francisco He will remain on the coast for about three months

BALTIMORE March 13 —It was rumored that an important conference of railroad men was to be held in this city during the day but as no prominent names were to be found on any of the hotel registers the rumors did not seem well founded In the afternoon, however, it was discovered that a party of three was stopping at a prominent hotel and that they had been closeted for several hours with Mr John K Cowen, counsel for the Baltimore & Ohio road The gentlemen were ascertained to be Messrs. A Benton County Man Loses his Wife and Child—Description of the Woman

V C Conley of Toledo Benton county writes to THE OREGONIAN under date of March 7

On Monday morning February 2[illegible] I sent my wife and child from Toledo to Corvallis there to wait until next day for me My wife was to write me in regard to some business I was to attend to before joining her Then we were to go to Sacramento Cal I have waited and looked for her letter but not one word have I received I have written and inquired but no one having seen her I cannot but think she has been foully dealt with, for she was a kind and loving wife We never had any family trouble to speak of, and parted with all affection due husband and wife She is of the blonde type stands 5 feet 6 inches in height, weighs 1[illegible]0 pounds auburn hair and dark eyes birth mark on right cheek always a smile when first spoken to is a good conversationalist wore a fur cap and black cloak and dress aged 28 years. The little boy was dressed in navy blue aged [illegible] looks like his mother. Any information will be very thankfully received either through this paper or by letter

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC BLOCKADE,

PORT MOODY, B C March [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

A number of passengers from San Francisco, Portland and other places on the coast arrived at the terminus of the Canadian Pacific railroad to-day with through tickets for the East And on inquiry when the next train would leave we were informed that orders had been received to sell no more tickets beyond Kamloops B C and also to refund to all passengers their money who held through tickets to the East Which we all refused to do and also demanded to have our board paid until such time as we could proceed on our journey After some time they have proposed to send us to New Westminster to a hotel

You can learn nothing in particular as to the extent of damage done on the Canadian Pacific railway Some say seven miles of the road bed track and all are gone in one place I see in the Vancouver News of the 9th inst that 1250 men had gone east to the mountains to clear the track, and it is reported they are blocked in by slides in the Selkirks and we may not expect a through train for the next six weeks They are having to pack provisions to the train men on snow shoes There are also land slides about twelve miles from here, up on the track running along the Fraser river Most of the people say it is going to be an expensive job to keep the road open during spring provided they get it cleared in the next five weeks, It is very mild, with continual rain which we are told makes the slides worse I shall write again and let you know how things are on the Canadian Pacific railroad

EULOGY OF BEECHER

Father McGlynn Writes an Interesting Letter

NEW YORK March 13 —The church on Orange street Brooklyn made famous by the late Henry Ward Beecher never presented a more joyful and brilliant appearance than it did to-day It was decorated more as for a May day festival instead of the occasion of its most illustrious late pastor's funeral eulogy The rays of the spring morning sun shone in through the east windows of the church and reflected with exquisite effect on [illegible] with flowers in the form of [illegible] one sign of [illegible] could be seen [illegible] The edifice was crowded to its fullest capacity Rev S B Halliday Mr Beecher's assistant who is at present in charge of the church assisted Rev Dr Lyman Abbott in conducting the service Mr Abbott spoke for over an hour and the attention of the audience was only broken by the occasional sobbing of some of the church members

NEW YORK March 13 —The evening service in Plymouth church was remarkable from the fact that the clergymen of almost every denomination were present and spoke in eulogy of the late Beecher The building was crowded to excess and the vestibules were utterly impassable and during the service many people fainted and more than one remained where they swooned or could not be carried out Rev Halliday conducted the service and read the following letter from Dr McGlynn deposed priest of St Stephen's church

FATHER McGLYNN'S LETTER

Rev Dr Halliday I regret very much that I cannot be present this evening at the meeting in Plymouth church to honor the memory of the great pastor and to condole for the irreparable loss I must therefore, content myself with saying, briefly in writing, what I should be glad to say more fully in speech It is the sign of the dawn of a better day for which the world has so long yearned that such a meeting should be possible and that you and yours should so earnestly desire the presence of a clergyman of that church which seems so remote and too many would say antagonistic to yours Foremost in the work of hastening the coming of the day was the great man whose death we mourn and for whose work we give thanks None other so well as he taught the men of the land of his time to exalt the essential of religion pure and undefiled in which we all agree to minimize the differences that seem to separate us to him was given to see with clearer vision to reveal with inspired genius, and with tireless energy to make common among men the meaning of him who taught of old the cause of the religious brotherhood of man I cheerfully confess that from Beecher I learned from the first days of my ministry the new tenderness and fullness of the meaning [illegible] and I am glad to be able here to state that the theology of the old church agrees with [illegible] that the

ESSENCE OF RELIGION

Is in the communion with God through [illegible] him for his own sake, and loving [illegible] the zeal with which we love ourselves and that while the sacrifice and sacraments of creeds and the ritual prayer sermon and song, may be in turn powerful helps and necessary manifestations of this religion which is love without it they are but mockery and blasphemy I thankfully count him among the masters from whom I have learned the fuller meaning of the prayer "Thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven" We must all agree with Beecher that the condition and duties and strifes of our temporal life are but signs and symbols of spiritual things and that in the yearning of this whole world for liberty, equality and fraternity made the reign of justice and love and if we pluck out the religious heart of it the burden is not worth bearing nor the battle worth fighting He and other giants of their time have cleared the field and illuminated the way for lighter progress and helped to give more perfect assurance of the victory in the strife that is now beginning against wider slavery than that against which he dealt his sturdy blows He was saving of the masses by classes and to cement the union not merely of American state but of the people of the world Stimulated and encouraged by his successes let us take up the burden of the people's wrongs where his tired shoulders have laid it down and [illegible] battle, if need be till [illegible] [illegible] come and we see the burden from our shoulders and the weapons from our hands with nearer vision than was given to the reign of the prince of peace Affectionately and fraternally

BURIAL OF THE ANARCHIST'S WIFE

CHICAGO March 13 —Extreme quiet marked the burial of Mrs. Neebe to-day Fully 30,000 people shivered for three hours in the bleak wind waiting for the obsequies of the noted anarchist's wife to commence and were only rewarded by the sight of a procession that except in size differed only in a few minor details from any ordinary funeral Last evening the master of ceremonies estimated that [illegible] sympathizers would be in line Whether the absence of the anarchist widower dampened the enthusiasm or the fact that the police were taking extraordinary precautions to quell disorder had a like effect the demonstration certainly fell far short of its promoter's predictions Including the persons in 17 carriages and buggies there were probably 3000 souls in the cortege. The funeral ceremonies were held in Baller's hall which less than twelve hours before had been the scene of a masquerade ball but every vestige of the carnival trappings had however been carefully removed and here and there were placard printed appeals for contributions to the anarchist defense fund The stage and gallery railing were tastefully draped in black and white and arranged before the footlights and around the coffin were floral emblems and potted plants in profusion Nothing symbolical of religion was visible nor in the simple services were there even the most distant allusions to future life and the only feature was a well rendered chorus

Brief orations followed from George Schilling and Paul Grottkau and the corpse was ready for the hearse Neither Capt Black nor Mrs Parsons were present Dr Schmidt socialistic orator who has been instrumental in raising a large part of the anarchist defense fund sent a substitute for an address which he was expected to deliver The crowd carried a number of red flags but they were carefully furled and covered with black drapery There was but one band in attendance

SENATOR HALE'S VIEWS

NEW YORK March 13 —In an interview with the Tribune reporter Senator Hale says of the last congress "There are two things that have been shown very clearly and stand out distinctly above everything else These are the utter lack of the administrative and the legislative faculty on the part of the democratic party in the first place and secondly the unpatriotic attitude of the democratic party They entirely failed in everything relating to fiscal and financial legislation I expect that this unpatriotic attitude of the democratic party and its indifference to national security and national honor will become thoroughly understood by the people during the next year and will become a prominent feature for discussion in the next presidential election There is very little hopefulness in the minds of the democratic leaders in congress as to the future They have very little confidence in the administration. I think the democrats are likely to renominate Cleveland. Personally Blaine is not thinking about the subject, and he has no desire to become again a candidate If he is a candidate it will be because he cannot help it and because his party is found to make the fight again with him as its leader

PORTLAND, MONDAY, MARCH 14, 1887.

"NEW YORK IDEAS."

"New York ideas on finance are vital to the ascendancy of the democratic party." Thus speaks the New York Star, the democratic paper of the metropolis which most distinctively represents the present administration.

What New York ideas on finance are the country now pretty well understands. They embody a policy whose purpose is to make the rest of the country contribute everything to the aggrandizement of the metropolis.

New York, as the money center of the country, naturally wants to dictate the country's financial and fiscal policy. It insists that gold alone shall be recognized as money, and goes so far in this demand as to be unwilling that any attempt shall be made to get an international agreement as to use of silver in connection with gold. Again, as the chief port of the foreign trade of the United States New York wants to cut duties on imports to the lowest possible limit, or abolish them as far as can be, and make money by trading in foreign goods. But this does not suit the country at large, which insists on maintenance of duties on imports at a point which will secure protection to and development of local industries.

Here are New York's "ideas" from one point of view. But they have still another side. New York insists that the government shall do nothing for development of commerce in any other part of the country. In this direction the metropolis goes so far as to demand that the revenues of the government shall be reduced, as an expedient for depriving the treasury of the money that would be used upon important public works, in various parts of the country, where the same may be needed. Here, for example, is the New York Herald, insisting, in addition to reduction of duties on imports, on abolition of the taxes on alcoholic liquors and tobacco, on the ground that these taxes contribute largely to the surplus in the treasury, and thereby encourage prodigality in expenditure. They do, indeed, bring into the treasury over one hundred millions a year; but, so long as revenues are wanted for any purpose whatever why should not alcoholic liquors and tobacco be taxed? Shall we do without improvement of our rivers and harbors, and other necessary public works, in order that beer, whisky and tobacco may be free of tax? Here are the most proper and very best subjects for taxation that ever existed; the taxes are paid and no one realizes it; if the articles were freed from tax the consumer would get no reduction, and certainly the producer and dealer make enough now. But the New York "idea" is that if these taxes are cut off the country will be able to get no money for needed public works; and as for the metropolis, the government has been improving and deepening its harbor since the year 1820, has put up all the great public buildings that the metropolis wants and hence the time has come to call a halt. New York does, indeed, want one thing more, and that is an appropriation of thirty to forty millions for fortifications; but she hopes to get this in installments, even after the taxes are reduced. So the New York Times, though it glories in the defeat of the river and harbor bill, actually has the face to complain that the fortification bill, in which the metropolis was specially interested, was lost. It says: "The failure of the fortification bill for two years in succession is inexcusable and probably without precedent." Upon which the Chicago Inter-Ocean makes this comment: "New York was interested in the fortification bill. There is nothing good in this land that does not contribute to the glory and prosperity of New York and New Yorkers. That is about the size of it."

The country at large has some "ideas" too. One of them is this, namely, that if New York is resolved that the country shall have no river and harbor bill, the country will see to it that New York gets no fortification bill, and the country, moreover, is in that amiable frame of mind which would lead it to look not wholly without satisfaction upon a complication with some foreign power possessing first-class war vessels, if only for the hope that a few such vessels would show themselves at New York, waiting complacently in the offing for the expected declaration of war. The spectacle would be fine.

"THE GHOUL ACT."

To hold a moral post mortem over a public man in order to fix truthfully the historical glory or shame of the deceased is termed the "ghoul act" by those who believe that death enjoins silence concerning the dead sinner. Let us see where this imbecile theory of journalism could land us. When Benedict Arnold died it would have been the "ghoul act" for a newspaper to have alluded to his treason; when Tom Paine died it would have been the "ghoul act" to have alluded to his atheism; when Burr died it would have been the "ghoul act" to have revived his duel with Hamilton and his trial for treason at Richmond; when Hamilton died it would have been the "ghoul act" to have referred to the fact that he was charged with malfeasance in office and confessed adultery; when Napoleon died it would have been the "ghoul act" to have recalled his murder of the Duc d' Enghien, and considered whether he was a selfish tyrant or the philanthropic friend of freedom. When Webster died Theodore Parker reviewed his career and declared that it was to his undying shame that so great a man should have gone back from his anti-slavery utterances and helped pass a law that made every Northern man the presumptive slave hound of the South. That too was the "ghoul act," we suppose. So it has been denounced as the "ghoul act" to remind the world that Tom Hendricks, conspicuous as a leader in defending slavery and pressing its extension, was false to the principles of liberty, humanity and civilization. When Jeff Davis dies, to intimate that his conduct as one of the leaders of the secession conspiracy was not creditable either to his heart or his head, that too, we suppose, will be the "ghoul act." To speak of John L. Sullivan after death as a very athletic drunkard and brute, who rose to fame solely as a human bull dog and ruffian of remarkable endurance, will be "the ghoul act." If the great actress, Bernhardt, should die to-morrow, to describe her truthfully as a person who persisted in becoming a mother periodically without ever becoming a wife, would be the "ghoul act." When Jay Gould dies to recall the fact that he robbed the Erie railroad of millions of dollars will be the "ghoul act." To have described "Bill" Tweed as a great public thief when he died, would have been the "ghoul act," and when John Hipple Mitchell dies we suppose it will be the "ghoul act" for THE OREGONIAN to re-state the fact that his public and private career has not been such as to promote morality and make the world better. In other words, any failure to describe a public man, after death, whose life was disfigured by wrong doing, as a lion in courage and a dove in purity of plumage would be the "ghoul act." This philosophy is like that which would lead a man to refuse to talk about rope lest a family who had lost a friend by the hands of Judge Lynch, should be in hearing. In our judgment the "ghoul act," if it means plain post mortem speech concerning the crimes of men who have villainously abused great political, social or religious trusts in life, is public wisdom and justice compared with the "fool act," which is to whitewash a black life after death, and impudently try to put it off on the public as the image of a white soul.

If Mr. George H. Ellers, whose letter we print, had read his OREGONIAN carefully during the twenty-eight years that he has been a subscriber, he would have found many lessons on the tariff, quite as many as the public would hear with patience. We are extremely sorry if we have failed to make it clear that THE OREGONIAN earnestly desires modification of the tariff. But we have learned, and Mr. Ellers will save himself much vexation of spirit by learning, that the principle of the protective tariff is grounded upon a sentiment or prejudice so deep and general that it is practically impervious to argument. This being the case, it would be folly to reiterate from day to day those arguments in support of tariff reform which to us seem conclusive. The public is not just now seeking enlightenment on the tariff question and the "lessons" which Mr. Ellers calls for have been rejected. Time and the logic of events will set this matter aright. In the meantime THE OREGONIAN is in favor of tariff reform, and we hope the gentleman from Polk will not fail to remember it.

THE PRESIDENT'S REASONS.

Our representative in congress, Mr. Hermann, called upon the president yesterday and informed him of the deep disappointment in Oregon over the failure of the river and harbor appropriation bill. The president's answer being called forth by this statement and addressed to our representative, may be taken as applying specially to the proposed appropriations for Oregon.

In the president's judgment there is as much money on hand as can be profitably expended during the coming summer. This is a positive affront. Four officers of the engineer corps who have made a special study of the works in Oregon and Washington, assisted by several civilian engineers equally familiar with the works, submitted estimates much greater than the sums provided in the bill. The chief of engineers with all the facts and figures before him recommended the expenditure of sums much greater than those provided in the bill. The secretary of war, who is also fully advised, made a similar recommendation. Both senators from Oregon, the representative from Oregon, and the delegate from Washington approved the several appropriations provided in the bill, and would have made them greater. The Oregon items were fully approved by a joint conference committee and there was no protest against them or any one of them, either in the senate or in the house.

At home, where all the circumstances are known, the judgment in favor of the several appropriations was unanimous, if we except the protest of one man, an office-holder by Cleveland's appointment. The state legislature in separate memorials asked for larger appropriations than were provided in the bill. A convention which met at Vancouver last fall, for the express purpose of considering the question of river improvement, asked for larger sums than were provided. The Portland board of trade asked for larger sums than were provided.

The president sets his opinion against all these most impudently. In his judgment there is as much money on hand as can profitably be expended—and that ends it.

The president does not say upon what evidence his opinion is based. He was never within two thousand miles of Oregon and knows nothing personally of its needs. No member of his cabinet was ever in Oregon, so far as we can learn. It is not possible that he took time to investigate the facts in the case. He could not have been advised against the appropriations through a single official source. Furthermore, the facts are against him. Of the sixteen works under way in Oregon and Washington (not to mention the proposed boat railway at The Dalles and other proposed works) eleven are now suspended for want of funds. For these, not a cent is available. For the remaining five the amounts on hand are pitifully inadequate and will simply enable the engineers to potter along for a few months, when they must be shut down.

The system which the president thus enforces by his ignorant and stubborn action is wasteful to the degree of folly. And yet we are gravely assured that the pocket veto was intended to check extravagance. The plain fact is that the veto was based jointly upon the "New York idea" and the principle of states rights, and the president isn't manly enough to tell the truth about it.

It seems to be understood that Morrison of Illinois, will be one of the members of the interstate commission, and will probably be its chairman. Further, it is believed that New York will get one of the five places, though there is yet no information as to who the man will be. At Washington the talk now is that John F. Swift of California—late republican candidate for governor of that state—will be one of the appointees, and that another, who must also be a republican, will be selected from one of the eastern or central states; and it is the impression, further, that Bragg of Alabama, or Atkins of Tennessee, will be the fifth man. The commission will be composed of three democrats and two republicans,—though of course its work will have no reference to politics.

THE OREGONIAN is asked to approve in Beecher the character it disapproves in Hipple Mitchell. It declines, with an emphasis intensified by the reflection that decency, morality and honor are even more necessary in Beecher's profession than in Hipple Mitchell's. Disregard of old-fashioned principles of morality and virtue has increased throughout the country, in consequence of constant apologies for immorality and corruption in social, religious and political life, till there is little regard anywhere for moral obligations, and the very life of the youth of the country is sapped, polluted and destroyed. What is praise of such men but invitation to the coming generations to imitate immorality and vice, to melt down their youth in beds of lust, and to follow the sugared game before them?

Mr. George Jones, proprietor of the New York Times, now at Los Angeles, says he voted for Cleveland in 1884 and will do it again; yet, he adds, "I am a strong republican." How long Mr. Jones thinks he can act with the democratic party in national politics and yet expect his assertion that he is still a strong republican to receive credit he doesn't explain to the reporter for the press. If Mr. Jones is not misreported the Times is committed to Mr. Cleveland for re-election, no matter who the republican candidate may be.

To abolish the mail route between Ashland and the counties of Klamath and Lake in Southeastern Oregon and to attach those counties to the postal system of California, as now proposed, would be an outrage. To adopt the Klamath Canyon route would be to remove Southeastern Oregon further from a railroad connection and make mails a day later than now. In Oregon we are growing weary of the "short-bit" economy of this administration.

Since Mr. George Jones of the New York Times pronounces for Cleveland for a second term, it may be taken for a certainty that Cleveland will again be a candidate. The Times is more nearly the "organ" of the administration than any other journal in the country.

AN OREGON WOMAN'S PROTEST.

SILVERTON, Or., March 10, 1887.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Mr. Ballard, of Washington territory, professes to be somewhat surprised that the women of the Northwest are protesting against the stand he has taken on woman suffrage. Now I have not been a resident of the Northwest long enough to learn much about the laws besides, being a woman, I have never taken much interest in politics. But if the cases Mr. B. quotes are samples of the laws of Washington territory in relation to women, I do not wonder that they want a change, and when Mr. B. prays that the good work of reform may go on, he should also pray for an increase of brains in reformers, as the average politician seems to have been created without that commodity. He also claims that the husband is "head of the family" by divine law. A wealthy Hebrew of New York, speaking of the Mosaic law, said: if Moses had ever tasted Cincinnati ham or Sandy Hook oysters that law would not have been written. Could the same writers have seen the hoodlum of to-day a line would have been drawn defining the qualifications of the "head of the family." "Woman suffrage is evil, useless, worse than useless." But in what respect he leaves the reader to judge. Let us reverse the situation as it at present exists all over the United States. Suppose that after supper the wife goes up town, leaving the husband to take care of possibly half a dozen children, and comes home about the "wee sma hours," falls over the cradle and raises such a racket as usually results from having imbibed too freely, and excuses herself by saying she met some of the "girls;" suppose she carried the purse, and when he asks for a small sum he is told she can't spare it, and what does he want money for anyway; then goes to the nearest saloon and spends a couple of hours playing pool or billiards, while the poor husband tries to make one new shirt out of two old ones, or perhaps cuts up an old dress of hers to make one for the baby. Is there any noise to compare with the mournful howl that would be raised over the land? There is a change needed. If Mr. B. had not received a curtain lecture I should have thought both ends of the Ballard family needed reorganizing. I have a pretty lively imagination, but I can't imagine Adam sitting on the fence of the garden of Eden talking politics by the hour with a neighbor, or digging the garden to get bait for a day's fishing, while Eve hunts around the fence for a loose board to make kindling-wood. Customs regulate laws, and as customs change laws must change. The woman of to-day is as different from the woman of 6000 years ago as the intelligent business man is from the Feejee islander. Woman must put her shoulder to the wheel and share the battle of life equally with man, while in return she is paid less for her labor and treated in every respect as an inferior being. Why wonder then that she should seek the modern weapon of redress—the ballot? Guardians only represent minors until they reach the age of accountability. Women are not minors or weaklings; they are the equals mentally and morally, of men; and instead of the father, etc., representing her interests, he usually misrepresents it, unless he has something to gain by it. (See Wash. Ter. Laws.) Mr. B. asks for chaos. He can get a good substitute for it without turning back the clock of time if he will visit some of our large Eastern cities about election time, or a Western town during a Chinese riot. Again: "God Almighty made the family." Well, if he had any hand in the manufacture of some of the so called "heads of families," he must be rather ashamed of the job.

Mr. B. will not quarrel with women. He is a Man (with a big M.) He evidently thinks "valor's best part is discretion," and will not participate in a struggle in which he will eventually be worsted.

STATE AND TERRITORIAL.

OREGON.

The Western Union Telegraph company has decided to establish an office at Turner.

James M. Allen, a pioneer of 1845, died recently at his home in Wasco county, aged 65.

J. D. Slover, of Oregon City, took a dose of aconite by mistake the other day, and narrowly escaped death.

Andrew Wilson's residence at North Independence, Polk county, burned Friday night. Loss about $1500.

The revenue cutter Richard Rush has come up to Astoria to tow the Corwin back to that city for repairs.

Byron Nixon, of Buena Vista, has been sent to the county jail for twenty days for giving liquor to a boy. Some justice of that sort in this city would be appreciated.

Mrs. Mary E. Henderson, wife of Dr. W. V. Henderson, died at Eugene City last Monday, aged 24 years. She leaves a child 2 years old, and a babe a week old.

Deputy Sheriff George Humphrey, of Albany, while attempting to ford a swollen stream on horseback, was washed off his horse and narrowly escaped drowning.

Mrs. Jewett, of Harrisburg, Linn county, was severely burned last Wednesday by her clothes taking fire from an open grate. Her husband was also burned in aiding her.

Hon. Warren Truitt of Dallas, Polk county, was married recently in San Francisco to Mrs. Schad of New York city. Judge Truitt and wife have returned to Dallas, where they will reside.

Mrs. Hefty, one of the most plucky women in Douglas county, has wintered her family on Smith river, managing her ranch alone. She was out to Roseburg this week proving up on her claim.

Baker City Reveille: Anthony Lowe, the man who shot and killed H. Khudle, at Ontario last week, was set at liberty after due examination before the justice of the peace, it appearing that the shooting was done purely in self-defense.

A. Stinit, the real estate dealer, well and not very favorably known throughout the state, has a wife and four children at Corvallis. The Benton Leader says they live in a miserable little house, the rental of which is but $2 50 a month, yet Stinit has paid no rent in five months and the landlord has taken out papers to eject the family.

John Davidson, a simple-minded youth living near Monroe, Polk county, was made to believe by some young men that they were going to kill him, whereupon he ran away from them, and, taking a valuable horse belonging to F. Kittridge, fled to the mountains. He afterward voluntarily returned the horse but was arrested and placed in jail. It would seem that this punishment should belong to the young men who would stoop so low as to frighten the weak-minded.

The Astorian reports a boom in boat building and says every one that can build a Columbia river fishing boat has all that he can do. The average life of a fishing boat is six or seven years, and as there are about 1500 boats on the river each season, the annual supply necessary is from 200 to 250. There were comparatively few boats built in '86 and '85, and last fall's fishing and other causes decreased the number of serviceable boats to such an extent that an extraordinary number are called for this spring.

Samuel Painter, of the Waldo hills, has made application to the commissioner of pensions for a pension. Mr. Painter served in the Seminole war, which took place in Florida and Georgia in 1835 and 1836. He received an injury in the leg, from the effects of which he has never entirely recovered. It is necessary, in order to secure a pension, to procure two witnesses to the injury, and Mr. Painter is having some difficulty in finding any of his old comrades. He knows where two only reside—one in Umpqua valley and the other in California, his brother and brother-in-law.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

George F. Frye, of Seattle, is seriously ill.

Ralph and Jennings, two burglars arrested at Tacoma, have been convicted and sentenced to two years and six months' and six years' imprisonment in the penitentiary, respectively.

An engine on the Northern Pacific was ditched the other morning at a siding near Tacoma by a large stone which some miscreant had wedged between the switch rails. No one was hurt.

J. M. Ritchie, sub-contractor on the star route between Montesano and Olympia, has fled the country, says the Aberdeen Herald, taking his horses, all the property he had in that section, with him. He leaves numerous creditors to sympathize with his bondsmen.

Judge R. A. Jones has arrived at Seattle, where on Saturday morning Chief Justice Greene administered to him the oath of office. Chief Justice Jones then adjourned court in Seattle and proceeded to Whatcom, where he will hold his first term of court in the territory.

A singular verdict was rendered in Tacoma last Thursday. Barker, the convict who attempted to escape in a boat from McNeal's island, and was tried for trying to steal the boat, was found not guilty, the jury concluding that he was merely on a legitimate search for liberty.

The 200-ton lumber schooner Fannie Adele, from Shoalwater bay for San Francisco, struck on the bar as she was leaving port and soon became thoroughly waterlogged. Lumber will not sink, however, and after nine days of weary work the schooner was taken safely into the Golden Gate.

A young man by the name of Blood, living near Anacortes, on Fidalgo island, last Tuesday committed suicide by blowing out his brains. About a year since he was employed by a well known farmer, Mr. Graham, and there formed an attachment for a young lady living near by. The young lady did not reciprocate, hence the suicide.

Besides the two men Glenfield and Matthews, who were arrested for tarring and feathering Charles Starkweather at Tacoma, the law now has its hands upon five others, Charles Taylor, James Watson, Charles Seymour, Peter Wessel and George Fitzgerald. Warrants are out for John McArthur and Walter Burcette, but the officers failed to find them.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Presbytery of British Columbia meet in Vancouver on the 15th inst.

A home for the protection of young Chinese girls has been founded in Victoria.

John Ross, Canadian Pacific telegraphic operator at New Westminster, telegraphed the Victoria operator, "Good-bye, I am going skyward." He then opened a vein in his arm with a penknife. A fellow-operator discovered what he had done in time to save his life.

WEAK LUNGS MADE STRONG.

Persons who stay in-doors all the time and lean over a counter or a desk, sooner or later discover that their lungs are giving out. Editors are often thus afflicted. Erastus R. Sutherland, editor of The Eastern State Journal, White Plains, New York, writes:

"I have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in my family since 1858. In that year I had an attack of pneumonia from which I was not expected to recover. My lungs were left in a very weak state. I commenced using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, wearing them constantly three months, two on the breast and two on the back. The result was surprising, at least to me. The pains in my lungs had left me, and I felt like "a giant refreshed with new wine."

OLD LAND MARKS.

Meeting one of the "way back" men of the metropolis the other day, an OREGONIAN man inquired if he remembered the old office of the Oregon Steam Transportation company (now the O. R. & N. Co.) which stood where are now the brick block of C. H. Dodd & Co. Being attached to said company at the time it revived "memories of the past" in a most vivid manner. "By the way, speaking of old buildings, we will take a walk through Couch, and I will point you to an older land mark than the old N. P. T. Co.'s building. You remember?" the writer had some recollections of the Couch residence that stood where is now Goldsmith & Co.'s three-story brick, opposite the Bulletin's. Well, it now stands back of the building on D st., and sixteen years ago was occupied by S. G. Reed, whose present residence, named Montgomery, is a palace beside the one he then used. At the corner of 3d and D is the N. P. T. Co.'s building—a large frame, now divided, and occupying two lots facing on Third. Many interesting incidents of Ben Holladay's time could be told in this connection. In the block east is Mrs. Sasser's residence, formerly facing on First street. There (pointing to the building north of the one) is the Gem saloon building, which stood years ago where now is Wisdom's drug store. He pointed us are other buildings which stood on the principal thoroughfares, the sites now being occupied by massive brick edifices. When we look back to those times and think of the changes we begin to realize that Portland is growing. Some of these days we will take a walk over the ground further west and look up some other old land marks." And with this he started for his desk in one of the railroad offices in the north end, in the vicinity of which he remarked there would be a big change before another year.

Our system of giving presents with our goods is done in the spirit of liberality and to still further advertise our numerous stores and distribute our teas and coffees, so that their merits may be known. Considering the magnitude of our business, having now thirty retail branch stores, it is easily seen that a small percentage of profit in our enormous sales amply pays us and enables us to deal more liberally with our customers than any other house can possibly do. Catarrh, Hay Fever and Catarrhal Deafness.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research has proved this fact, and it is now easy to cure this curse of our country in one to three simple applications made by the patient at home. Send stamp for circular describing this new treatment to A. H. Dixon & Son, 303 West King st., Toronto, Canada, and Melville House S.F.,

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

AN URGENT MATTER.—As every one knows, the river and harbor bill failed, but it may not occur to those most interested that last year's appropriation for the Lower Willamette and Columbia is completely exhausted. About the 15th of next September the ever recurring question of cutting out St. Helens bar will come up and, as usual, the people of Portland will say, we will pay for the work. Every year Mayor Gates, who thought out and put into practice the novel and extremely economical plan of sluicing bars with a steamship screw, has suggested an appliance that will do away with anchors and long hawsers, and enable him to do the work of sluicing in about one-third of the time now occupied. It consists of two spars and certain tackle. Further description is unnecessary. Mr. Gates says it is what he needs, and that is sufficient. The cost will be about $3500. One day last fall just after St. Helens bar had been sluiced out, Mr. Gates came into a water committee meeting. It had not yet been called to order, and Mr. Gates was explaining to several of the committee how the work could be shortened and the cost greatly lessened if he had the spars to hold the steamship instead of anchors. One broad gauge man said: "Go ahead, Mr. Gates, and get the spars. We will reach in our pockets for the money and run the risk of the city or the United States reimbursing us." This week will be a very good time to raise the money. It won't do to wait till the river gets down to twenty feet. Now that the president has said Oregon shall have no government funds to improve the Columbia, Portland must furnish the means, and if there is one public question on which the people of this city are a unit, it is on the proposition that the rivers must be kept open to the sea. Of course one of the Improvement Co.'s colliers will be called into requisition, and, with the appliances asked for, the work can be done within forty-eight hours. It may be necessary to do some work at Walker's island and Martin's island, and Portland will take care of that. In six months from now a railroad will be hauling grain from the Inland Empire to Puget sound to load into what few vessels can get past the dangerous rocks and through the stormy seas which wrecked twelve vessels in the past year, and Portland will have some opposition for the first time in her history. Preparations for cleaning the river cannot begin too soon, and the appliances needed this year will be good for all time.

COMPANY K AND EX-PRIVATE MARQUAM.—Last Saturday evening K company, Oregon State Militia, held a meeting to take action on the scurrilous letter written by U. S. G. Marquam. There was a large attendance. It was decided to take no further action than was necessary to establish the fact that Marquam had deliberately misstated the facts. The following committee was appointed to ascertain and publish the record relative to his enlistment: Lieut. W. M. Ladd, Serg't. F. K. Arnold, Privates H. J. Corbett, T. B. Trevett, L. A. Lewis, F. R. Strong, W. L. Boise, R. L. Durham, Frank Woolsey and R. W. Emmons. The facts in the case are that Marquam enlisted for ninety days, and then reenlisted for three years, from July 5, 1886, with the remainder of the company took the prescribed oath, and signed the oath of service. It puts him in the unpleasant position either of acknowledging to having, with malice aforethought, broken the ninth commandment or of being so ignorant as not to know the nature of an oath. U. S. G. has not emulated the example of military obedience shown by the illustrious soldier for whom he was named.

LOW PRICES OFFERED FOR CATTLE.—A Montana cattleman who bought a great many cattle in this section last spring and drove them across Montana into the British possessions writes to a friend in the cattle business here that he will save about 10 per cent. of them. He says that country will go broke this spring. He declines an offer of a band of cattle at current rates, and says if he should come over here in the spring he would not pay more than $10 for two-year-olds and $6 for yearlings. He has evidently been hard hit, and takes a gloomy view of the cattle business. But he will get no young cattle here at the prices he names. He must remember that we have not had a bad winter and are not despondent and don't want to give away cattle just yet. It would be singular if the tremendous losses of cattle in Montana should cause such a great reduction of prices here. While it is unlikely that there will be as large a demand for cattle from Montana this spring as there was last, still there will no doubt be customers enough to take all the cattle offered at fair prices.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT.—P. F. Morey yesterday received a dispatch stating that one carload of wire, dynamos, lamps, etc., to be used in lighting our streets by electricity was shipped on the 9th inst. and another carload on the 11th. There are five carloads of material altogether and the remaining three will be shipped inside of two weeks. The iron girders for the new building, near Weidler's mill, in which the engines and dynamos are to be placed, have arrived and the building is rapidly approaching completion. The work of placing the machinery within the building will be begun within 10 days. The poles for the electric lights are all in place, except on Seventh and Ninth streets and they will soon be planted, and sometime in the near future will bud and blossom with incandescent lamps, which will rival the stars in brilliancy. Some think that there has been considerable delay in this matter, but it was impossible to get five carloads of all the ictas necessary any sooner.

NEW SUBURBAN RESORT.—The work of clearing the ground for a new suburban resort which Mr. H. C. Leonard proposes to erect has been commenced. The location is directly opposite the old White house, on the river bank, and the new building is to be called "The Riverside." It will have a frontage of ninety feet, two stories in height, and will be thirty-five feet in depth, and owing to the nature of the ground will be four stories on the river side. There will be wide porches or verandas on each story, commanding a beautiful view down the river to this city. The building will be completed in June. The White house will then be torn down. There will be new and spacious sheds for horses and carriages, and a wharf will be built to accommodate steamboats. The narrow-gauge road will also have a station near by, so this place of resort will be accessible by every known mode of travel.

A DOG CAUSES AN ACCIDENT.—A rather singular accident happened in the vicinity of the White house a day or two ago. The steamer Sellwood stopped there to take on some passengers. Among them was Jack Dudley, who essayed to walk up the gangplank with a plate glass mirror under one arm and a dog, more fragile but not so valuable, under the other. When Dudley was about half way up the gangplank the dog happened to espy another dog in the mirror and at once went for him, tooth and nail. The energetic movements of the two dogs raised such a bobbery that Dudley could not preserve his equilibrium, and in his desperate efforts to climb the plank it was thrown down, and down came Dudley, dog, mirror and all into the river. The dog and his master fell through the mirror, irretrievably ruining it, but they were hauled on board in a very limpsy condition. The captain of the boat, it is probable, will put in a claim for salvage.

BIDS FOR SURVEYING.—Surveyor-General Taylor has received thirty bids for doing the work of surveying the Umatilla reservation. The survey includes three classes of work: Base and meander lines, township and section lines, and dividing sections into tracts to be taken by the Indians in severalty, and as a different bid is made on each kind of work for level country and for mountains or timber, it is quite a complicated job to decide to whom the work is to be awarded. The thirty bids were nearly all from parties in this state, a few being from Washington territory and one from Los Angeles. They range from nearly $10,000 down to about half that sum. Two bids were rejected on account of being joint bids, which are not allowed. Gen. Taylor has several matters to take under consideration in regard to awarding the contract, which will be done as soon as possible.

STILL ALARM.—At 11 o'clock Saturday night the hook and ladder company responded to a still alarm for a fire in a dwelling house corner of Alder and Sixth street, occupied by a family named Pearce. It was confined to the sitting room, a lounge and other furniture being burned; damage about $200. The family was absent at the time and the origin of the fire is unknown, although it is supposed to have been caused by some person lying on the lounge and smoking and permitting sparks to drop unobserved. Chief Morgan interviewed Pearce, and gives as Pearce's version of it that he entered the house, lighted a lamp and threw the lighted match towards the sofa.

STREET FIGHT.—According to report from a policeman on the Slabtown beat, one Ball, a recent discharge from the penitentiary, and Jimmy Donahue had a knocking-out match yesterday at Fourteenth and Q streets, resulting in Ball coming out on top. Ball was sent up several years back for beating his wife. No arrest has yet been made in the present case.

ON THREE CHARGES.—Charles Gilman, a tailor, is confined in the county jail serving out three sentences, namely, two, five and twelve days. Number one is for assault and battery, number two for breaking a window, and three for stealing a bottle of wine. Gilman tried to clean out a saloon in Albina a couple of days ago.

SLIGHT FIRE.—Last night at twenty-five minutes past 8 o'clock an alarm was turned in from box 17 for a small blaze in a one-story-and-a-half frame building at the corner of Fifth and D streets, occupied by Mrs. Franklin as a dwelling and owned by Dr. Glisan. The fire was confined to the back wall of the parlor and a closet immediately behind it and caught from a red-hot stove, assisted by a defective flue. Mrs. Franklin and the rest of her family were absent at the time. A man named Evans, who resides at Fifth and C streets, turned in the alarm. Two young children of Mrs. Craig, who were asleep in bed in the basement, were taken out and carried to a place of safety by William Burke. Damage to the building about $200 and to furniture $100. Building and furniture fully insured.

LANDSLIDE.—Last Thursday evening a landslide occurred near Pillar rock. As John Fanning, an Irishman, and Charles Olover, a Greek, were sitting in their houses knitting nets, they heard an awful crash on the mountain side. Apprehending the danger, they seized their children and rushed out of doors, at the same time shouting to their wives to rescue themselves. They had barely reached a place of safety when an immense mass of earth, trees and rocks came down, burying the houses out of sight. Fanning started in the next day to tunnel into the bank to try to recover some of his household goods, but Olover's was buried too deep to justify making an attempt.

TRIED TO BREAK JAIL.—Ah Lum, the Chinaman who broke into Jacobs Bros.' store, at the corner of Front and Ash streets, Friday night, and stole a bolt of cloth, tried to effect his escape yesterday from the large cell of the city jail by tearing away some boards. He was caught in the act before he had made much headway and was taken out and thrown into a dark cell. Ah Lum has been recognized as a heathen who served three terms in the penitentiary, where his nickname was "Buffalo." Lum is not so smart as Ross.

RUN OVER BY CARS.—Last Friday afternoon at the Cascade Locks, a few minutes before the Coyle child was killed by a rock from a blast, an accident befell Mike Conlan, a 16-year-old son of Frank Conlan. He was driving a mule, hauling three dump cars on a tramway at the government work. He undertook to make a "flying switch," and running ahead of the cars, slipped. Before he could get out of the way the three cars ran over his right leg, crushing it badly. It was thought the limb could not be saved.

CHANGE OF BASE.—We are pleased to note that Mr. M. J. Morse, so long connected with Morse's palace of art and other establishments of like character, is now associated as a partner in the Oregon Picture Frame Manufacturing Co., 221 First street, where his years' of experience will be of benefit in further advancing the interests of this popular and growing local institution, which is now filling large city and country orders with materials of home production.

CHINESE MASQUERADER.—Quite an excitement was created in Chinatown, Second and Washington streets, at 10 o'clock last night, occasioned by a Chinaman masquerading in female attire. From the amount of jabbering that took place among the heathen over the discovery, one would have thought Bedlam had broken loose. Quiet was restored by the appearance of two policemen on the scene and the hasty flight of the masquerader toward the city jail.

ROBBER CAPTURED.—Charles A. Lampkin, sheriff of Walla Walla, arrived here yesterday having in charge David Howard, wanted at Walla Walla for robbing a Frenchman some time ago. After the robbery Howard lit out and was captured at Seattle by Lampkin. He has already been indicted by the grand jury. Sheriff Lampkin locked his man up over night in the county jail and will leave for home with the prisoner to-day.

SHOULDER DISLOCATED.—Dr. Julius J. Auerbach, while descending the steps of his residence, No. 145 Market street, fell and dislocated his right shoulder. Dr. G. M. Wells reduced the dislocation and left his patient in an easy condition. It is likely he will pull through without much trouble.

THE EAST SIDE.

School Election—Hurricane in a Well—Fourth Street—Notes.

To-day the election of a director for district No. 21 and clerk will take place. The polling place will be at the engine house on the corner of Fifth and I streets. J. T. Stewart has been mentioned in connection with the office of director and his qualifications have been set forth. The friends of Judge Wait, having obtained his consent, have placed his name in the field. He is known as an able and conservative, and yet progressive, man; was six years a director at Milwaukie and is cognizant of the needs of the office. This much is said of Judge Wait not in disparagement of other candidates, but in justice to him and his friends. The rumor that Judge Wait had withdrawn from the contest is without foundation. As the election is of great importance, it is expected every taxpayer will be on hand. The polls will open at 2 P. M. and close at 6 P. M.

WHO CAN EXPLAIN?

Saturday Antone Hartman, on Columbia slough, went to draw some water out of a well that is under Garrard's well. He heard a peculiar noise issuing from the well, but, thinking nothing of it, drew the water, when, as he stepped over the well curb to lift the bucket out, he was struck in the face by a strong puff of wind that almost knocked him down. On examination it was found that there is a strong current of air issuing from the mouth of the well. The well is about sixty-five feet deep, and the water is pure. It seems that the wind does not come from the bottom of the well, but from a place about ten feet below the surface. The phenomenon has caused considerable interest in that locality, and the prevailing question is "Where does the wind come from?"

FOURTH STREET.

Lumber for planking 100 feet of Fourth street north from L is on a scow at the foot of J. Street Commissioner Bartel will have the lumber hauled up from the river to-day and work will be at once commenced. The street will be planked full width. It will be necessary to close up the north end of Fourth at J when work shall have been begun. It is understood that all the improvement contemplated on Fourth street is under contract.

FATHER WILBUR.

This aged and well known minister occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church yesterday and it must be said that Father Wilbur has lost none of his power since he left the Willamette for the Yakima. His sermon was full of practical thought. Father Wilbur was the founder of Taylor street church, in Portland, and the old Portland academy. He has a host of friends in the Willamette valley who would gladly take him by the hand.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

The wife of Uncle Jimmy Stephens is slightly improved.

Judge Wait is one of the candidates for school director.

Prof. Miller, of Monmouth, was in East Portland the other day.

Judge Wait spent Sunday at Milwaukie, where he formerly resided.

Prof. Ladrue Royal, principal of the Oregon City school, was in the city Saturday.

The Postal Telegraph company are looking for a place for an office on Fourth street.

The bad place out on Fourteenth and G, mentioned a few days since, has been repaired.

W. J. Landis, of Walla Walla, was in the city yesterday, registered at the Fourth street hotel.

The little son of F. L. Possen, Hanson's addition, is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

Prof. L. J. Powell returned to Seattle Saturday, but expects to come back to East Portland in a short time.

Rev. I. D. Driver has been invited to lecture in the Methodist church at Mount Tabor next Wednesday.

Jennie Taylor, on Twelfth and M, and Harry Workman, on Twelfth and O, are reported as being sick with scarlet fever.

E. H. Parker of Gaston, on the west side railroad, was in East Portland yesterday on his way to the Sandy, where he has friends and relatives.

The street commissioner and city surveyor have located the culvert to be constructed by the railroad at Tenth and Division streets, Stephens addition.

The masquerade given in Gruner's hall, in Stephens addition, Saturday night, was in every way successful. There was a good attendance and the young folks enjoyed themselves.

If any one who has been in the habit of casting rubbish on the sidewalk near his premises should see this item, perhaps the rubbish will be removed and thrown somewhere else.

Some time ago Ida M. Garrard, now of this city, began suit against her husband for divorce. He filed a counter bill, and secured a divorce. She will have to pay the cost of the suit.

During the heavy rains the bank along U street became saturated with water and caved in on the sidewalk. The street commissioner had the same removed Saturday, and the sidewalk along that street is now entirely clear.

Some months ago the city council instructed the street commissioner to make an examination and report on the condition of crosswalks in the city and ascertain where they were needed. He did as instructed and made his report, but since then nothing has been done in relation thereto. Any one who will take the trouble to walk as far as the Fourth-street bridge will see at once that there is need of immediate action in regard to crosswalks even on Fourth street, not to say anything of what is needed on some of the back streets.

SUBURBAN RAILWAYS.

Talk about Roads to Run to Mt. Tabor, Sellwood and Vancouver.

Difficulties in the Way of Crossing Morrison Street Bridge—The Narrow Gauge Line to be Finished this Summer.

There has been considerable talk among local capitalists lately concerning the organization of a system of horse cars and steam cars which shall connect Portland more closely with her suburbs on the east side of the Willamette. The enterprise has not yet taken definite shape, and whether it materializes or not will depend, it is said, on the policy of the Morrison Street Bridge company. No plans have been made public, but it may be said, in a general way, that the enterprise contemplates a line of horse cars, starting from a central point in this city not far from the postoffice, crossing the Morrison street bridge, then north and south through some central thoroughfare in East Portland; then a line to Mount Tabor, another to Vancouver, and another to Sellwood—the last three with steam or electric engines. A gentleman who did not deny that he, with others, had been considering the scheme, said to an OREGONIAN reporter that the Pacific Bridge company, who are the principal stockholders in the Morrison street bridge, had thus far declined to enter into negotiations looking to a contract for crossing on the bridge. Informally, they spoke about what amount they would probably demand for such a contract, and the figures were about ten times as much as any sensible business man would pay. They fear that a street car line connecting the two cities would practically monopolize the passenger business, leaving the bridge company to depend on vehicles exclusively for an income. The county court has fixed their rates of toll the same as charged by the ferries, and they argue that a man will not walk across the river on the bridge in the rain and the sun if he can ride on a ferryboat, at the same price in the dry and the shade. Teams naturally will prefer the bridge, because it saves the hard pull at the inclines.

It is not among the impossibilities that a connection across the river with street cars can be effected by means of the Stark street ferry, either by transporting the cars themselves across, or by having the line on this side terminate at Front and Stark, and on the east side at L and Water, leaving passengers to walk only up and down the inclines.

There is no reason why street cars cannot cross on the O. R. & N. bridge soon to be built, by simply laying a third rail.

In 1885, the Multnomah Railway company composed of eastern capitalists had well under way an enterprise to connect Vancouver more closely with Portland. Their plan was to run street cars from the postoffice, along Sixth and North Seventh, past the Union depot, thence to the Albina ferry. From the east side a narrow gauge railroad was to run to the south bank of the Columbia where the Vancouver ferry lands. The enterprise has been sleeping ever since, but the building of the bridge and the revival of good times may wake it into life.

THE NARROW GAUGE.

From present appearances the line of the Portland & Willamette Valley railroad from Elk Rock to South Portland will be finished by the first of July next. The finances are in good shape, and the only difficulty which presents itself at this time is Jacob Kamm's alleged stone quarry just below Elk Rock. He claims that the property is valuable as a quarry, and the railroad company hold a contrary opinion. It is likely that the road will force its way through and then let the courts settle the amount of damages. With the new suburban resort to be erected opposite the White house, the road leading thereto to be put in good order and kept sprinkled, the narrow gauge line running accommodation trains, and the steamer Sellwood on the river, it looks as if there would be some life up the river during the pleasant weather of the coming season.

SCHOOL ELECTION TO-DAY.

The annual election for officers of the school district (No. 1) will take place to-day. One director to serve for five years and a clerk to serve for one year are to be chosen. But one candidate has been named for the former position—Wm. M. Ladd—and he will no doubt be elected without opposition.

For clerk there are four candidates—A. Waldman, Fred A. Daly, A. H. Morgan and E. S. Allen. The fees of this office are very great, considering the service to be performed, and there will, as usual, be a contest for it.

Only tax payers have the right to vote. The polls open at 2 o'clock, and close at 6. Following are the polling places:

First ward—Corner Third and A streets.
Second ward—Corporation shed, Fourth street, between Morrison and Yamhill.
Third ward—Southeast corner First and Jefferson.

FACTS & FIGURES.

Portland to be the Actual Terminus of Three Transcontinental Railways.

A Position Occupied by No Other City on the Pacific Coast.

Over Five Million Dollars to be Expended in Improvements in Portland and Vicinity During the Current Year.

THE O. R. & N. LEASE HAS BEEN LEGALized by an act of the Oregon Legislature, and it is now an indisputable fact that Portland is to be the competing point and actual terminus of the three great transcontinental railway lines—the Union, Northern and Southern Pacific. This means increased business, increased wealth, increased population, and a rapid rise in city and suburban property, of which we have over 200 pieces, which we are offering at prices that will enable everyone to secure a home before the boom. In addition to our list of residence properties, we have a number of choice pieces of business property in Portland, East Portland, Albina and Salem, to which the attention of Eastern investors is called. If you want to secure a home and an independence at the same time through an investment in real estate, don't wait until Portland assumes the proportions of Kansas City which it will in the course of five years, but make it at once, and thereby secure the benefit of the rise.

Below will be found a partial list of our property, the ownership of which is sure to enrich the lucky purchaser:

TO GEN. In reply, allow me to say that, regarding it as the duty of a citizen to cheerfully respond to what seems the wish of so large a portion of my fellow-citizens, even outside of the large body of representative gentlemen who have honored me by their written request, and feeling, as I have always done, a deep interest in the maintenance and success of our common schools, and believing in my ability to satisfactorily perform the duties of said office, I cheerfully comply with your request, and, in submitting my name in that connection to my fellow citizens, I pledge myself, if elected, to use every honest effort to so perform the duties of the same as to justly command the confidence of every person favorable to our public school system and to an honest disbursement of the funds of the district.

The produce markets for the past week have been dull enough. Elsewhere wheat has been excited and higher, but here little attention is paid advices. Exporters have needs in hand, and will not contract tonnage without loading stuff well in hand. The advance here of hardly 2½c is all that is permitted by foreign advices. The American markets are drooping at the close, showing a decided tendency to fall back. Wheat has furnished the only excitement for the week, salmon advices, while of better markets, cutting little figure locally.

The merchandise trade is good and has been so for more than a week. Dealers are receiving large stocks in anticipation of freight rate andvances next month. This time last year cut rates caused a large movement this way. The different lines are showing no marked value changes.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty four hours 1007 ctls wheat, 102 bbls flour, 202 ctls barley, 440 sks potatoes, 714 lbs hides, 99 cs eggs, 7 cs butter, 390 bxs fruit, 40 bxs dried do, 40 cattle, 270 sheep, 22 hogs. Also from the eastern section, 5293 ctls wheat, 120 bbls flour, 7085 lbs hides, 111 cattle.

FREIGHTS—A cable to day contradicts one of Thursday to the effect that the Swansea Castle had been taken for lumber. The captain yesterday denied the charter. She is looking for grain business. The Jupiter has been closed as stated yesterday. Our market is still 35s, with a small open list. San Francisco quotes medium iron 25s. Two large iron at San Pedro proceed to the West coast for nitrate at 26s 3d, business usually done by smaller craft. The Americans are taking coast coal freights. At this time last year iron was taken to arrive here at 41s 6d. Now both owners and exporters are showing no desire for to arrive business. We are promised plenty of tonnage for the remaining grain and for salmon.

WHEAT—Cables to-day are of a rather better tone, yesterday's weakness seeming to have passed away. New York closes about where it did yesterday. Chicago slightly lower for leading options. San Francisco is not materially changed. If shippers are buying wheat they are not securing new tonnage. Here three vessels have filled up with wheat, one nearly so with flour, leaving two to load with flour and three with wheat. Some wheat holders have been trying the market but making few firm offers to sell. Buyers are still quoting $1 40 for valley while holders think more could be had for lots of any size. Receipts are extremely light. The Walla Walla coming via mostly bought some little time ago by two firms. The quotation is $1 30@1 32½.

FLOUR—Only a fair local trade doing as indicated by receipts. Values are firm on basis of $4 25 for standards. Export movement liberal.

MILLSTUFF—Stocks continue light with fair demands and a firm market. Corn is largely dealt in while some California chop is sold.

OATS—None in by regular routes for a week, yet there is little complaint made as to low stocks. Buyers will not go above 48@50c while holders ask 50c and over. Meanwhile there is no urgent demand and the market is slow, holders are confident.

POTATOES—The range is $1 22½ to $1 40 with only a fair amount of business. Advices are steady.

ONIONS—Advices rather weak, but shippers expect turns that will give opportunities for fair profit. Few now here unsold, $1 65 being quoted.

PROVISIONS—Generally firm but the movement is only fair. Very little eastern coming at present.

DRIED FRUITS—The undertone is good and old stock will be sold out before new comes in. Prices mark no change.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The stock market to-day was again extremely dull and for the most part weak. First prices showed irregular changes from last evening's final figures, which, however, were for small fractions only. Business was quiet, but after a few slight advances in some stocks the entire list weakened and Richmond and West Point upon large transactions dropped 2⅝ per cent. A general rally followed and prices were brought up nearly to the opening figures. Extreme dullness then became the leading feature, and toward noon the weakness again became apparent. The most important advance of the day occurred before 1 P. M. but the market again yielded, but in the last hour showed some firmness. The close was dull and steady.

Government bonds dull and steady.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—The week closed with an advance in nearly every stock on the list. There was a brisk demand to-day for Con. Con Cala and Va gained 1¼, Ophir 1⅜, Best & Belcher, 1⅛, Potosi and Chollar, 1 c., Alta, assessment added, sold up from $1 60 to $2 35. HELP YOURSELF to tide over what may be a critical period of your existence, by using Dr D JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, when struggling with a serious cold. This old curative will give free expectoration, and so relieve the lungs of the phlegm which clogs them. It will allay the inflammation which attacks the mucous membrane of the throat and lungs, and thus remove the irritation which so alarms and distresses. It heals the parts and aids the system to shake off the effects of such attacks. It is an old familiar medicine for all pulmonary complaints—consumption, asthma, or pleurisy, and equally serviceable in bronchitis, or any throat ail. If in need of such a remedy—get it—and do not be put off with anything else.

A FARMER'S OPINION OF THE LEGISLATURE

McCOY, Polk Co., Or., March 9.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Our state legislature has adjourned and the people are beginning to be able to count the cost of their forty days' license to run the state. I feel in duty bound to state that a thanksgiving proclamation would have been in order after the adjournment of that body for escaping the infliction of greater damage for an Oregon legislature is the most eccentric body of men ever gathered anywhere in Christendom. True, they saddled upon us forty new additional officers, whose salaries will perhaps average $1000, making $40,000 for the whole of them annually. Perhaps the farmer of Oregon, having an income of 2½ per cent on his investment, may be able to stand a little more taxation, but he is liable to kick and hit his tormenter pretty hard—at least severe enough to lay him out. That concentrated wisdom in session lately must certainly think that the people who sent them would indorse all of their acts and propositions, or else surely they would not have made the astonishing proposition of investing the legislature with the power of regulating the salaries of our state officers.

Undoubtedly a proposition to amend the state constitution by raising the salaries by a stated amount would have carried the state, but to leave that for a cranky legislature to do—never!

The state is considered fortunate in having a governor who knows how to apply the brake and manhood enough to follow the dictates of his own conscience. It seems the proposition to give the people an opportunity to express their choice for United States senator was strangled by a corporation lobby while the bill was in the hands of a committee. We shall see in the future who will gain. The people of Oregon are tired of being a pocket borough. Undoubtedly THE OREGONIAN is right when it says that the tendency of the people is to look for help and assistance to the treasury of the state or the nation, but that should not surprise us for "where the carcass is the buzzard eagle will be also" and though feasting on the very vitals of the farmer they have no leader under whom to muster to drive the very essence of uncleanness out of the land. That unclean bird is thriving on the sinew and bone of the farmer, impoverishing his land year by year, and only leaves him just enough to keep body and soul together, but the press of the state is silent as though a city or state could prosper without the farmer. He is compelled to compete with pauper labor of Egypt and India, and then take his pittance and invest it in 40 per cent. home protected manufacture. For twenty seven years I have taken and carefully read THE OREGONIAN, and about the only thing in which I have been disappointed is the absence of lessons on the present tariff.

You admit in a late number that it is an insidious tax the people do not perceive nor rightly understand. Granted. But how shall we learn, unless some one teach us? It can not be doubted that there is at least in Oregon, a large majority in favor of a reform in our tariff laws, but if there is a press in Oregon in favor of it, it is unknown to me. Our congressmen vote as straight on this issue as Randall from Pennsylvania. And still you must know as every intelligent man in Oregon knows, that this state can and will never be prosperous until those thieving tariff laws are greatly modified. You hear men talk about "pauper labor" (the watchword of the manufacturer), but how can labor be protected as long as our ports are open to immigration? Then why should not the press of Oregon go unitedly in favor of a change in our fiscal system, and wipe out that curse to manful progress—each individual depending upon himself for aid. By wiping out that execrable piece of war legislation we may gain peace and harmony at home among the various classes of society.

GEORGE H. EILERS

GOSPEL SERVICE IN THE NEW MARKET.

The second week of the union gospel meetings opened yesterday afternoon with a meeting in the New Market theater. At 3 o'clock several gospel hymns were sung, Mr. Wm. Wadhams leading. A scripture reading by Rev. T. E Clapp was followed by singing "Hallelujah for the Cross" by the Y. M. C. A. male chorus and prayer by Rev. E. W. Caswell. Mr. Clapp then introduced Rev. H. K. Hines, who delivered an interesting address containing reminiscences of his early life and closing with an earnest appeal.

Rev. R. B. Dilworth, acting pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the next speaker. He wished to know the class of people he was to address and asked an expression from the audience, which was given. His remarks were to Christians, urging a compliance with belief and breaking away from the stereotyped conventionalisms which the allurements of the world have woven around them. A good number by rising pledged themselves to more active service. After a brief closing prayer the meeting was dismissed.

SERVICES AT THE TABERNACLE.

The union revival meetings will begin in the tabernacle this evening at 7 30 o'clock. Preaching every night during the week. The tabernacle is one of the best audience rooms in the city. Its acoustics are perfect. A whisper can be heard in the farthest part of the building from the platform. It is brilliantly lighted with 380 gas jets. The seating is made for ease and comfort and will accommodate 2000 persons. Here the rich and the poor can meet together on an equality. No Brussels carpet, no damask pews, no stately architecture, no long, dingy aisles, appear in contrast with the poverty of the poor. The tabernacle is Moody's idea of a church for the people. Such buildings should be multiplied in all our cities, and erected for permanent use. Let the people of the city come together this week, that the churches may enjoy the interchange of Christian fellowship and work together for the salvation of the lost.

COM.

An Undoubted Blessing.

About thirty years ago a prominent physician by the name of Dr William Hall discovered, or produced after long experimental research, a remedy for diseases of the throat, chest and lungs, which was of such wonderful efficacy that it soon gained a wide reputation in this country. The name of the medicine is DR WM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS and may be safely relied on as a speedy and positive cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, etc.

SATURDAY'S NEWS.

(SUMMARIZED FROM THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN.)

GENERAL.

Under no circumstances will Robert Garrett lose control of the Baltimore & Ohio.

The president made a substantial contribution to the Hendricks monument fund.

At New Orleans fire destroyed the Commercial cotton press, worth $75,000, and cotton worth $150,000.

The yachts Dauntless and Coronet sailed from New York at 1 10 P. M. on their race across the Atlantic.

The Clerical Union, of New York and Brooklyn, has issued an address highly laudatory of Beecher, designed to offset the action of the ministers at Chicago. It is signed by Talmage and twenty-one others, representing various denominations.

The sheriff at Chicago has decided that Neebe, the condemned anarchist, cannot attend his wife's funeral. He was moved to this decision by hearing from the police that the anarchists were arranging for a great public demonstration at the funeral if Neebe should be permitted to attend.

Beecher's remains were taken from Plymouth church at 8 30 A. M., conveyed by the shortest possible route to Greenwood cemetery and deposited in a receiving vault where they will remain until the family select a lot for final interment. Only the family and close personal friends went to the cemetery.

Beecher's will instructs his executors to invest his life insurance for the benefit of his wife during her life. All other property is given to his children and in case of their death to their heirs. His three sons and his son in law Scoville are named as executors, without bonds. The will is dated July 11, 1878.

John G. Carlisle made a speech before the Bay State Democratic club at Boston dealing almost exclusively with the question of states' rights. Upon this question he said the democratic party stands to-day where it has always stood, but he admitted that it carried the doctrine to a dangerous extreme twenty five years ago. He thought the present tendency toward centralization dangerous. Referring to the Cleveland administration, he declared that the country was never better governed than now.

LOCAL.

Harry Prindle, on trial for swindling George LaRocque out of $3700, was acquitted.

Sheriff Beck of Collin county, Texas, arrived here from the Sound, having in charge E. P. Demerce, a murderer who fled the state to avoid trial.

At a meeting of citizens it was decided to appoint a committee of one from each county and five from Portland, to solicit subscriptions to a fund for continuing the work of the state board of immigration. It will require $3000 a year for bare expenses. Within five minutes $1000 was subscribed by five Portland merchants.

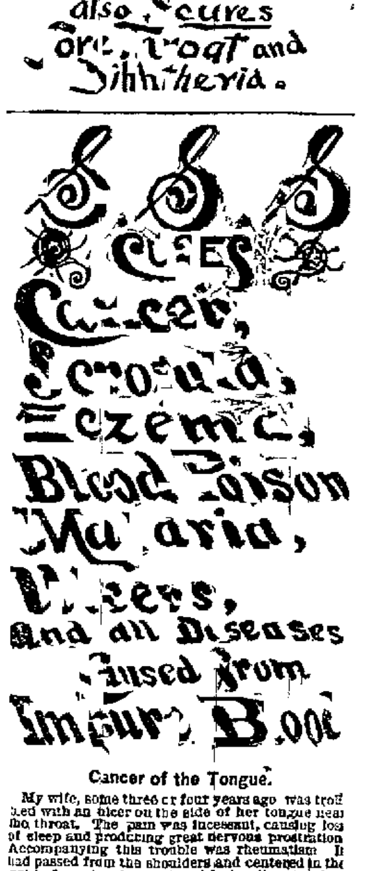
To a small cupful of Molasses or strained Honey add 2 teaspoonfuls of Perry Davis' Pain Killer and take often ¼ teaspoonful of the mixture & you Will Cure your Cough or Cold.
Pain Killer also cures Sore Throat and Diphtheria.



S.S.S. Cures Cancer, Scrofula, Eczema, Blood Poison, Malaria, Ulcers, And all Diseases Caused from Impure Blood.

Cancer of the Tongue.

My wife, some three or four years ago, was troubled with an ulcer on the side of her tongue near the throat. The pain was incessant, causing loss of sleep and producing great nervous prostration. Accompanying this trouble was rheumatism. It had passed from the shoulders and centered in the wrist of one hand, she almost losing the use of it. Between the suffering of the two, life had grown burdensome. By the use of a half dozen small sized bottles of Swift's Specific, she was entirely relieved and restored to health. This was three years ago, and there has been no return of the disease.

DR. JOHN BULL'S [illegible]
FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.
